"If they're Rich's Shoes, they're proper."

Entire building. Phone One-877. Ten-One F, Cor. 10th.

After considerable selling from our stock of summer footwear we have a number of lines broken in sizes which we are offering at most advantageous bargains—much less than the regular prices to close them out.

The most select line of canvas and linen shoes ever shown in this city is displayed at our store, and all of the desirable new things as shown in the leading stores of the metropolis are included.

Footwear for out-of-door sports, such as golfing, cycling, tennis, etc., we are showing in all of the popular new styles.

If out of the city and in need of footwear, write us, giving size and width. We will make every possible effort to send the correct thing.

THE WORLD OF SOCIETY

MARRIAGE AT OLD POINT OF A WELL-KNOWN WASHINGTONIAN.

The Havermyer-Whiting Wedding—Miss McKenna Becomes Mrs. Raymond—Atlantic City Visitors.

Judge Warner Johnson and Mrs. Sue R. Havermyer of Washington were married last night at the Chamberlin Hotel, Old Point Comfort. The bridegroom is sixty-five years of age and is well known in Washington. His bride is sixty years of age and an invalid. She is said to be very wealthy. She was a sister of the late General Burden of Washington, one of the principal stockholders in the Chamberlin Hotel Company.

The marriage at Newport yesterday of Miss Charlotte Whiting and Mr. Henry O. Havermyer, Jr., was a great social event. Father Means of the Catholic Church, Newport, officiated. "Swanhurst," the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Rives, was gorgeously arrayed with flowers. The bride wore Renaissance lace, made in princess style, with a very long train, trimmed with lace. Her hair was arranged in a very unusual long and was of Renaissance lace. It was held in place by a diamond ornament of five large stones, the gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids wore simple white chiffon costumes, and carried bouquets of roses and fern. The best man and ushers wore diamond and pearl pins. The gift of the bridegroom was a diamond and pearl pins.
